

YOUNG WOMAN KILLED BY SKIDDING AUTO DURING JOY RIDE

FINAL
NIGHT

The

Evening

World.

FINAL
NIGHT

"Circulation Books Open to All."

"Circulation Books Open to All."

PRICE ONE CENT.

Copyright, 1914, by The News Publishing Co. (The New York World).

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1914.

28 PAGES

PRICE ONE CENT.

ALL GERMAN ATTACKS REPULSED, ALLIES SAVE COAST, SAYS PARIS

GIRL KILLED WHEN AUTO TURNS TURTLE UPON HER AFTER ALL-NIGHT JOY RIDE

Owner, Who Was Driving, Escapes With Only Slight Injury

STEERING GEAR JAMS.

Two Other Girls and One Man Get Off With Only Bruises.

An all night joy ride and tango party culminated in a tragedy at 7:40 o'clock this morning when an automobile, owned and driven by twenty-two-year-old Joseph P. McGuire, son of the late Brooklyn pickle magnate, overturned on a curve in Pelham Parkway in front of Hunter's Island Inn and killed twenty-year-old Elizabeth Dayton of No. 3291 Decatur avenue, the Bronx. Two other young girls, Violet Von Shalek, sixteen years old, of No. 181 Frank avenue, New Rochelle, and Anna Willy, twenty-two, of Winthrop avenue, New Rochelle, were slightly injured. McGuire was painfully but not seriously hurt. He is under arrest as a material witness. William Roche, twenty-five years old, of No. 68 West Sixty-eighth street, who says he has no employment, was in the party and escaped with bruises.

Edward J. Cuddihy, an undertaker, living at No. 644 Lexington avenue, who was McGuire's guardian until he attained his majority, furnished a bond of $2,000 for him this afternoon. Up to six months ago the Dayton girl lived with her mother and her stepfather, Paul Askenazy, at No. 3170 Broadway. She quarrelled with her stepfather and went to live with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. James Warren at the Decatur avenue address.

The foundation of the all-night joy ride and tango party was laid yesterday afternoon, when Elizabeth Dayton and the two New Rochelle girls went to the St. Nicholas Skating Rink in West Sixty-sixth street, where they met Roche for the first time. He introduced himself and about 6 o'clock took the three girls into Healy's restaurant, at Sixty-sixth street and Columbus avenue.

There Roche met McGuire, whom he knew. McGuire lives at No. 562 West End avenue with his sister.

(Continued on Eleventh Page.)

Great Strategic Move

In the conduct of war, it is strategy to do the right thing at the right time. And the same is true at all times as regards advertising.

It is the height of strategy and good judgment for persons desiring to find positions, energetic workers, homes, investments, bargains, lost articles, &c., to HAVE AN ADVERTISEMENT PRINTED IN THE BIG SUNDAY WORLD, WHICH HAS A CIRCULATION IN NEW YORK CITY GREATER THAN THE SUNDAY HERALD, TIMES SUN AND TRIBUNE ADDED TOGETHER.

The Sunday World Want Directory is a veritable "flying wedge" that sweeps Adversity off its feet.

Get Your Sunday World Ads. Ready To-Day!

PRISONER STABBED IN TOMBS; WIELDER OF KNIFE UNKNOWN

Mystery Surrounds Attack on "Snitcher" in Midst of Throng of Men.

VICTIM'S LIPS SEALED.

"I'll Settle Him in My Own Way," Says Youth, Who Says He Knows Assailant.

The murder of one prisoner by another was attempted in the Tombs to-day under the eyes of the keepers. Though a knife was wielded so close they were almost standing on one another's toes, and the victim's cry was heard by all, Wardman Hanley has been unable to find, in all the crowd of prisoners, one who will admit he saw the attempted killing.

Richard Harrison, twenty-one years old, whose home is at No. 439 West Seventeenth street, was the victim of the murderous attack. He is in Bellevue Hospital, where he was hurried on the advice of Tombs Physician Maguire. He has a knife wound on his left elbow and a deeper and more serious wound just below the left shoulder. Though his injuries are severe, he will recover, the hospital surgeons believe, unless complications occur.

Harrison, conscious and vengeful, said at the hospital he knew who had stabbed him but he would not tell. "I'll settle this my own way when I get the chance," he growled. The stabbing in the Tombs was but the fulfillment of the thieves' steel law against "snitchers," as potent behind bars as in a black alley. Just before the attempt was made to kill Harrison he had boasted to some of his fellow prisoners that he was going to tell all he knew about the rest of a gang of wagon thieves, of which he was one, whom the police had not yet rounded up.

In less than two minutes after his boast Harrison was writhing on the floor with a wound dangerously near his lungs. The dramatic incident of the thieves' vendetta occurred a few minutes after 9 o'clock when 170 prisoners, due to appear before the various courts in the Criminal Courts Building, were being passed through the gate to the Bridge of Sighs. VICTIM'S CRY OF PAIN ANNOUNCES MURDEROUS ATTACK. The prisoners were in a line, waiting to pass through a grated door to be handcuffed by Deputy Sheriff Mil-

(Continued on Fifth Page.)

Ship Lost; Eleven Perish. HAVRE, France, Nov. 12.—The French steamship Duchesse de Guiche, bound for the Havre, was lost in a gale and eleven persons perished.

FRENCH WOUNDED IN A BERLIN HOSPITAL

WOUNDED FRENCHMEN IN BERLIN

LETTER THREATENS SIEGEL AT TRIAL; GUARD IS DOUBLED

Depositor Who Lost Savings Supposed to Have Sent Missive to Defendant.

(From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

GENESEO, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Henry Siegel received a threatening letter in the courtroom to-day, while his trial was in progress. Although his attorney, John B. Stanchfield, refused to permit its contents to become known, an inquiry was made soon after the letter arrived, whether the attorneys for the prosecution had any list of depositors in the Siegel private bank, as it is supposed to have been written by one of the 15,000 who lost money in the ruin of that institution. No threatening was the letter that extra precautions have been taken by Norman Fitzsimmons, formerly a police lieutenant in New York, who is engaged by Mr. Stanchfield as personal guard to Mr. Siegel.

Sheriff George Root of Livingston County, who has been in the courtroom every day, was requested to make, hereafter, a careful inspection of all strangers who attend the trial. Mr. Siegel did not seem to be worried over the threatening letter. Every effort will be made to trace it. It is supposed to have been mailed in New York. The prosecution has no complete list of depositors in Henry Siegel's bank.

The first witness this afternoon in the Siegel trial was Alfred J. Oxenham, one of the assistant cashiers of the National Bank of Commerce. His testimony concerning bank book entries and practice was entirely technical.

Louis A. Keidel, one of the assistant cashiers of the National Bank of Commerce, was the first witness called to-day in

(Continued on Fifth Page.)

REAL MONEY SEEN IN WALL STREET; BROKERS REJOICE

Cotton Exchange to Open Monday; So Will the Curb Market.

Friday, the thirteenth, proved to be Wall street's lucky day. For the first time since the blight of war fell over the financial world there was optimism, cheer, and most important of all, actual business done in securities to-day in the banks and broker offices. The sunshine of confidence broke through the gloom of despair and everybody in the financial district cheered up.

The Curb Association that meets in the middle of Broad street decided in the early morning to have a formal and official opening at 10 A. M., but on second thought of the day and dates they voted to postpone the ceremonies until Monday. Nevertheless the brokers plunged in for the biggest day's business in unlisted securities they have had in three months, but every man crossed his fingers to guard against the hoodoo's return.

Standard Oil shares were the favorite for trading, closely followed by mining shares and industrials like Cigar Stores and Hiker-Hogman. The tendency of prices was decidedly upward and there was actual demand for stocks.

Over in narrow New street, where the Gutter market does its scalping business, there were reports of transactions, with real money passing, in various Stock Exchange securities, which are supposed not to be sold by board members under closing prices of July 30. U. S. Steel common, the last day the Exchange was open, was quoted at 50 3/4. Since then, in New street, it has sold down to 37, but to-day there were bids of 47 3/4 reported.

Governors of the Cotton Exchange voted at noon to open their exchange Monday at 10 A. M. Arrangements have been made to carry closing day transactions between Liverpool and New York that have not yet been cleared up. A pool fund has been subscribed to bridge over this so-called "straddle" and the exchange now can open without fear of disastrous losses from the low scale of prices that will be marked on first transactions. Cotton is at least 3 cents per pound down from July 30 prices.

Investment bankers and brokers reported the most encouraging demand for securities that they have experienced in a long time. Public utility stocks and bonds were noticeably the favorites and a great variety of them were negotiated over the counter and by telephone. Business of this kind is usually in very small lots, such as one or two bonds, or five to fifty shares of stock, to be bought outright and locked up, but in the aggregate the sales considerable showing.

Money rates were easier and borrowers had less difficulty in securing accommodation. This improvement was helped by the coming opening of the Federal Reserve banking system next Monday, which is designed to ease the financial stringency. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. announced reduction of their interest rate to 5 1/2 per cent. on call loans. A month ago the prevailing rate was 6 per cent. More recently it was reduced by banks to 6 per cent., and to-day marks the first cut under that figure.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12.—The New Orleans Cotton Exchange will open for unrestricted trading Monday, Nov. 16. This decision was reached by the Board of Directors of the Exchange at a meeting to-day after it was announced the New York Exchange would open on that date. The cotton markets here closed July 31. January cotton in New Orleans closed at 10 1/2 on July 31, a net loss for the short day's trading of seventy points, $3.50 a bale. In the liquidation trading following the price went to seven cents, but recently it recovered with trading going on between 7.50 and 7.60.

Encouraged by improved conditions, the New York Stock Exchange expects to open for unrestricted trading on Jan. 2, barring unforeseen developments. Prominent members believe that the financial situation will be cleared sufficiently by that time so there will be no danger from excessive foreign liquidation.

$12 Men's O'coats & Suits, $5.95

The "HUB" Clothing, Broadway, corner Barclay St., will sell to-day & Saturday, 2,500 Men's Winter Suits & Halmacian coats, fine black cloth, fancy gray, blue, pencil stripes, brown & dark mixed worsteds, all sizes, worth $12 in any other store; our special price to-day and Saturday, $5.95. Open Saturday night till 10. The HUB Clothing, Broadway, corner Barclay St.

FRENCH GAIN GROUND IN NEW AISNE BATTLE

Paris War Office Report Indicates Renewal of Activity Around Soissons—British Admit Losses to Date of 57,000 Men.

BERLIN MAKES NEW CLAIM TO SUCCESS NEAR YPRES

PARIS, Nov. 13 [United Press].—The force of the German drive in an attempt to break the allied lines and reach the coast cities of Dunkirk and Calais is apparently spent for the time being.

The official communique issued from the War Office this afternoon declares that the violence of the fighting from the coast to the Lys, through Dixmude and Ypres has diminished.

All attempts of the Germans to cross the Yser canal have been frustrated. The position about Ypres is unchanged, with the allies still holding their positions.

The official report mentions the repulse of a counter attack launched by the Germans upon the forces which have recaptured Chavonne and Soupir. This position northeast of Soissons is now occupied by fresh French troops which replaced the British forces engaged in holding the Germans in check on the west.

Fired by a friendly rivalry to surpass the British in the operations in the Aisne district, the new French troops are gradually pressing forward.

One statement in the report which indicates the desperate character of the work of the Allies is that during the foggy weather the troops have crept to points in some cases only 1,100 feet away from the barbed wire entanglements of the German position.

The text of the communication follows:

"From the sea coast as far as the Lys the fighting has been of a less violent character than on previous days. Several efforts of the Germans to cross the Yser canal at the western outlet from Dixmude and at other points of passage in the Amont district were checked. Generally speaking, our positions have been maintained without change.

"To the north, to the east and to the south of Ypres attacks of the enemy were repulsed at the end of the day at different points of our line and that of the British army.

"From the region to the east of Armentieres and as far as the Oise there have been artillery exchanges and actions of minor importance.

"In the course of the last few days of foggy weather our troops have not ceased to make progress little by little. They are to-day established almost everywhere at distances varying from 300 to 500 metres (about 1,011 to 1,655 feet) from the network of barbed wire entanglements of the enemy.

"To the north of the Aisne we have taken possession of Tracy-le-Val with the exception of the cemetery to the northeast of this village. We have made slight progress to the east of Tracy-le-Mont and to the southeast of Nouvron, as well as between Crouy and Vregny and to the northeast of Soissons.

"In the vicinity of Vailly a counter attack by the Germans delivered against those of our troops who had retaken Chavonne and Soupir was repulsed. Equal failure attended the German efforts in the environs of Berry-au-Bac.

"In the Argonne there has been a violent artillery duel.

"There has been minor progress in the vicinity of St. Mihiel and in the region of Pont-a-Mousson.

"A surprise attack delivered by our troops against the villages of Val and Chatillon, near Girey-sur-Vezouze, made it possible for us to capture a detachment of an enemy.

"A German attack directed against the heights of Mount Sainte Marie resulted in failure.

"It is reported that snow is falling again on the heights of the Vosges Mountains."

OFFICIAL GERMAN REPORT.

BERLIN, Nov. 13 (By wireless telegraph to London).—German military headquarters to-day gave out an official announcement as follows:

"During our attacks on Ypres, which have progressed favorably, 1,100 prisoners have been taken.

"Fierce French attacks to the west and east of Soissons have been repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy.

"On the East Prussian frontier, at Eydtkuhnen and also further south to

ZEPPELINS CIRCLE ABOVE KAISER TO FOIL AIR ATTACK

Imperial Headquarters Moved to Coblenz, Upon German Soil.

THE HAGUE, Nov. 13 (United Press).—Kaiser Wilhelm's headquarters is now on German soil. He has moved from French territory and has established his headquarters at Coblenz, on the Rhine. This is the capital of the Rhine province and is well inside German territory.

Following reports circulated during the last few days that the headquarters of the Kaiser had been moved to some point the name of which was not given, this was the explanation given here to-day.

It is asserted two Zeppelins, both carrying machine guns, continually circle over the headquarters of the Emperor and the utmost precaution is taken in guarding his apartments. The Emperor has invited his five daughters-in-law and his sons, including the Crown Prince, to visit him at Coblenz.

NEW SEWER PLAN TO COST $100,000,000

Initial Steps Taken to Devise a Scheme to Supplant the Old Ducts.

The first steps in a plan to practically replace all the old sewers in Manhattan and other built-up boroughs in the Greater City, involving a total expenditure of $100,000,000, were taken at this afternoon's meeting of the Board of Estimate, when a Bureau of Sewer Plan was created. There is an initial appropriation of $14,000 for salaries and contingencies.

The sewers of lower Manhattan were laid when three and four story buildings instead of skyscrapers were the rule. Experts claim these sewers are to-day inadequate and that conditions are becoming worse year after year as the number of very tall buildings increases.

STEAMSHIPS DUE TO-DAY.

Baltic, Liverpool 8 A. M.
Mayaro, Grenada 10 A. M.
Mexico, Vera Cruz 10 A. M.
Algonquin, Yantis Isle 11 A. M.
Cadiz, Cadiz 12 M.